Eyster's C.O.D. Grocery

Corner Kansas and Boulevard.

California Strawberries, only, per box10c
Texas Dewberries (the large sweet variety) per lox 10c California Raspberries, Loganberries, all shipped in refrigerator boxes, 2 for 25c
Red Currants, per box 15c
Gooseberries, per box10c Fresh California Apricots, 2 for 6 lb, baskets valley cherries only50c
Blue Ribbon Butter, fresh by express 3 times a week 3 pounds for Strictly fresh Kansas eggs, per dozen25c
Mountain Park eggs, per dozen40c 10 lb. new potatoes for Best full cream cheese, per lb20c 3 pkgs. Post Toasties for Shredded Wheat, 2 pkgs. for Fancy ripe olives in bulk, per quart45c
Quart jar pure fruit jams, 35c, or 3 for$1.00
Blue Ribbon pure cider vinegar, per bottle15c
Large Queen Olives, 10 oz. bottle, only25c
Large Queen Olives, 14 oz. bottle, only35c
Very finest imported olive oil (full quarts)$1.10
Fresh peaches, per basket40c
Eyster's Special Coffee, per lb 25c
Very best quality bulk teas, Gunpowder, Oolong, Ceylon, Uncolored Japan, English Breakfast, or mixed, per lb
Fresh Vegetables every morning.
Best Gasoline, 5 gallons
Best Eupion Oil, 5 gallons80c
4 large rolls toilet paper for 5000 lhs. Kansas High Patent Flour, to close out, 50 lb. sack only, at$1.60
E

Lyster's C. U. D. Grocery

Corner Kansas and Boulevard.

LEADERS IN LOWER PRICES

Bell Phone 844-823

Auto Phone 1691

Boys Release Dog Thev

Were Abusing.

dogs aroused the ire of several persons at the courthouse shortly before 9 oclock Monday morning. Three Mexibig dog and were pulling him about the

Mrs. Charles Vogel, who is employed by a local abstract company, rushed out and took the dog away from the boys,

THE COURTS.

41ST DISTRICT.

A. M. Walthall, Presiding

Mrs. Nellie Taft vs. city of El Paso, uit for damages; with jury. James R. Blacker vs. John B. Thompson, suit for commission, filed. Burton Produce company vs. C. H.

Lawrence, suit on account; on trial.

COUNTY COURT.

M. H. Gore vs. Western Union Telegraph company, suit for damages; on

JUSTICE COURTS.

Miss Elizabeth Kelly Dies After

Short Illzess,

school were held in the armory where the stage was decorated with the class year in electric light clusters. The graduating class was assisted by the alumni and undergraudates. The speakers of the class were Emil Apodaca and Misses Etta Young and Maude Terrell.

The High school orchestra was in attendance. Miss Christina Cromb read the class history. Allan Jones, represented the undergraduates, and A. J.

Matthews, president of the Tempe Normal school also addressed the class.

The diplomas were presented by the home after less than a week's Hiness. She was one of the most popular young women of Clifton. Blood poisoning, resulting from a scratch on the face, is said to be the cause. Interment was made in Clifton cemetery Sunday mora-

Contracts Will Be Let on June 4 and

Work Will Begin at Once-Blue Prints on File at Del Bio.

construction on the Orient line from here to San Angelo will begin shortly

s certain, the management of the road

ng and having notified contractors having advertised for bids on the grad-that the contract will be let on June 4

Blue prints, specifications and profiles are on file here with locating engi-neer Parker. Several railroad contractors have visited Del Rio and gone

The first contract will be for thirty miles north from Del Rio, on which the work is comparatively light, al-

untered a few miles north of the Val

Verde county line. Grading has been under way from San Angele to a point

12 mHes south of Eldorado, covering 62

Diarrhoea should be cured without loss of time and by a medicine which like Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy not only cures promptly but produces no unpleasant pleasant and safe to take. Sold by all

It never fails

though much heavy work is to be en

over the proposition.

Del Rio, Tex., May 30 .- That actual

GRADING NORTH OF DEL RIO.

ORIENT ASKS BIDS FOR

Miss Elizabeth Kelley died at her

EXERCISES MARK END OF

E. H. Watson, Presiding.

Jose Olivares, theft of $50; complaint

CLIFTON'S SCHOOL YEAR.

electric light clusters. The can boys had as many ropes about streets and pelting him with stones.

giving them a sound scolding.

Cruelty on the part of boys catching

DOG CATCHERS

CRUELTY BY THE on a six weeks' trip to Baltimore, Chicago and New York Tuesday evening. During his absence his place as as-sistant city health officer here will be A Woman Makes Mexican taken by Dr. H. J. Emanuel,

Are you contemplating a HUNTING or FISHING faunt?

Are you interested in things PRE-HISTORIC? If so write Traffic Department

Mexico Korthwestern Railway Trains leave CIUDAD JUAREZ-Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays: 1:25 P. M. (Mexican time) 1:00 P. M. (El Paso time) DAILY SERVICE From CHIHUAHUA

> H. C. FERRIS, General Manager. T. R. RYAN, Traffic Manager. Chihuahua, Mexico.

Herald Building Directory

BASEMENT.

Palace Cafe.

FIRST FLOOR. A. H. Richards, Jeweler.

International Book and Stationary Co. Wm. Moeller, Roal Estate. Cigar Stond.

Herald Business Office and El Paso Printing Co., facing Main St., near St. Regis hotel.

SECOND FLOOR. John Brunner, Tailoring.

Y. W. C. A. Lunch and Rest Miss Hilpert, Dressmaking Par-

Standard Home Co., Money to Loan. THIRD FLOOR.

Public Stenographers Co., Ruth Williams, manager. Mrs. J. B. Cass.

Miss B. Garra, Dressmaking Drs. Satterlee & Satterlee, Usteopaths. Dr. Nettle E. Satterlee, Dr. Flora L. Satterlee.

First Church of Christ, Scientist, Reading Rooms, The Wm. Jennings Co., Consulting Engineers - Machinery Merchants.

Southwestern Portland Cement

A. Courchesne. R. E. Ruthsteiner, Mechanical

Colorado National Life Insurance Co. E. McMillen, agent. R. L. Nichols, Attorney at Law. Lee & Woodyard, Contracting Engineers.

Charles M. Gibson. Carter & Robertson, Mine, Mrl. Smelter and Rallway Supplies. The Ladlow Saylor Wire Co., J. E. Robertson, manager. H. L. Howell, Real Estate.

By Charles Klein and

SYNOPSIS OF PREVIOUS CHAPTERS. Howard Jeffries marries waitress while at college and is disinherited by rich father. Stepmother visits apartments of her old flame, Robert Under-wood, to try to prevent him ending his life when pressed by creditors. Howard, visiting Underwood, a former college-mate, seeking a loan, is asleep in the apartments during the interview and as stepmother leaves, Underwood shoots himself. Howard awakens and is arrested and, by police third degree methods, is made to confess to the crime. His wife seeks aid of his family. Goes see husband at prison. He tells her he is not guilty.

(Continued from Saturday.)

The judge was staggered. No one in his recollection had ever dared to speak to him like that. He was so astonished that he forgot to resent it, and he hid his confusion by taking out his handkerchief and mopping his forehead.

"I do know it," he admitted. "Then why do you do it?" she snapped.

The lawyer hesitated, and then he "I-that's not the question." Annie leaped quickly forward, and she replied: "It's my question—and as you say, I've asked it 50 times."

The lawyer sat back in his chair and looked at her for a moment without speaking. He surveyed her critically from head to foot, and then, as if satisfied with his examination,

"You're going on the stage?" She nodded.

"I've had a very big offer." The judge leaned forward, and in a low voice, so that no one in the outer office might hear, he said: "Well, I'll give you twice as much

If you refuse the engagement." She laughed ironically. "You mean that my father-in-law will give it," she said, lightly. Then she went on: "You know it's no use your asking me to concede anything unless you agree to defend Howard."

The lawyer shook his head. "I can't-it's impossible." "Then neither can I," she exclaimed, Judge Brewster could not refrain from smiling. This young woman had actually enveigled him into an argument. Almost mockingly, he said: "So you're determined to have me." "Yes," she said, simply, "But I don't argue criminal cases." "That's just it," she exclaimed, eagerly; "my husband is not a criminal. He is innocent. I don't want a lawyer who is always defending criminals. I want one who defends a man because he isn't a criminal." Judge Brewster waved his hand con-temptuously. "Go and see some other lawverthere are plenty of 'em."

The dog catchers wagon later ar-rived upon the scene and the canine was She leaned eagerly forward. Her eyes flashed.

"There's only one Judge Brewster," she exclaimed. "He's the greatest lawyer in the world, and he's going to help us. He is going to save Howard's life.'

The judge shifted uneasily on his chair. He didn't like this forceful, persistent young woman. Almost fretfully, he said:

"You always say that. Upon my word, I shall begin to believe it soon." "I shall say it again," she exclaimed.

"and again every time I see you." The lawyer turned round. There was a comic look of despair in his face which would have amused his visitor had her errand not been so

"How often do you intend that shall

"Every day," she replied, calmly. "I Interesting Program Given in Armory; shall say it and think it until-until it comes true." Clifton, Ariz., May 20.—The com-mencement exercises of the Clifton High Judge Brewster tried to feel angry, although inwardly he had hard work Hudson. to keep from smiling. With pretended indignation, he said:

"You mean that you intend to keep at me until I give way-through sheer exhaustion?" She nedded.

"That's it exactly," she said. The lawyer gasped. "Well, I must say you-you-you're very brave.'

Annie shook her head. "No, I'm not," she said, earnestly. "I'm an awful coward, but I'm fighting for him. Howard Jeffries lifted me up when I was way down in the world. He gave me his name. He gave me all he had, to make me a better woman, and I'm grateful. Why, even a dog has gratitude, even a dog will lick the hand that feeds him. Why should I hesitate to express my gratitude? That's all I'm doing-just paying him back a bit of the debt I owe him, and I'm going to move Heaven and earth to bring his father got you already-" The judge bounded to his feet. Could his ears have heard aright? "Got me already?" he exclaimed.

around to my way of thinking. I've

"What do you mean by that?" Annie returned his angry look with the utmost calm. She was playing her cards well, and she knew it. She had hit the old man in a sensitive place. Quietly, she went on:

"You'd say 'yes' in a minute if it wasn't for Mr. Jeffries." "Oh, you think so, do you?" he gasped. "I'm sure of it," she replied, confidently. Boldly she went on: "You're afraid of him.

Judge Brewster laughed heartily. "Afraid of him?" he echoed. "It isn't so funny," she went on. "You're afraid of opposing him. I'm not surprised. I'm alraid of him my

The lawyer looked at her in an amused kind of way. "Then why do you oppose him in everything?" he demanded.

Annie laughed as she replied:

"That's the only way I can get his attention. Why, when he met me out there to-day he actually looked at me. For the first time in his life he recognized that he has a daughter-in-law. He looked at me-and I'm not sure. but I think he wanted to bow to me.

He's kind of beginning to sit up and take notice." Judge Brewster frowned. He did not like the insinuation that he was afraid to do the right thing because it might interfere with his emoluments. Yet, secretly, he had to admit to himself that she had almost guessed right. Now he came to think of it, he had taken this stand in the matter because he knew that any other course would displease his wealthy client. After all, was he doing right? Was he acting in conformance with his professional oath? Was he not letting his material interests interfere with his duty? He was silent for several minutes, and then, in an absent-minded kind of way, he turned to his visitor.

"So you think I'm afraid of him, do

"I'm sure of it," she said, quickly. "You liked my husband, and you'd just love to rush in and fight for him. His father thinks he is guilty and, well-you don't like to disobey him. It's very natural. He's an influential man, a personal friend of the president and all that. You know on which side your bread is buttered, and-oh, it's very natural-you're looking out for your own interests-"

Judge Brewster interrupted her im patiently.

"Circumstances are against How ard. His father judges him guilty from his own confession. It's the conclusion I'm compelled to come to myself. Now, how do you propose to change that conclusion?"

"You don't have to change it," she said, quietly. "You don't believe Howard gullty."

"I don't?" exclaimed the lawyer, "No, at the bottom of your heart. You knew Howard when he was a boy, and you know he is as incapable of that crime as you are."

G. W. Dillingham Co

Copyright, 1910, By

Judge Brewster lapsed into silence, and there followed a perfect quiet, broken only by the suppressed chatter of the clerks and clicking of the typewriters in the outer office. Annie watched him closely, wondering what was passing in his mind, fearing in her heart that she might have prejudiced him against her husband only the more. Suddenly he turned on

"Mrs. Jeffries, how do you know that your husband did not kill Robert Underwood?"

"I know it," she said, confidently. "Yes," persisted the judge, "but how do you know it?"

Annie looked steadily at him, and then she said solemnly:

"I know there's a God, but I can't tell you how I know it, that's all! Howard didn't do it. I know he didn't." The lawyer smiled.

"That's a very fair sample of feminine logic."

"Well, it's all I have," she retored. with a toss of her head. "And it's a mighty comfort, too, because when you know a thing you know it and it makes you happy."

Judge Brewster laughed outright. "Feminine deduction!" he cried. Think a thing, believe it, and then you know it!" Looking up at her, he

"Haven't you any relatives to whom you can go?"

She shook her head. "No," she said, sadly. "My father died in-Sing Sing-and the rest are not worth-"

"Yes, yes, I know," replied the judge, hastily. "I got your family history from Mr. Jeffries after your mar-riage. It is filed away among the family archives."

She smiled sadiy "It's a wonder you con't burn 'em up-my folks were not a very brilliant lot." Earnestly she went on: "But my father was all right, judge. Blood was thicker than water with him. He'd never have gone back on me in the way Howard's father has on him.

The lawyer looked at her fixedly without speaking. Their eyes met, and the silence continued until it became embarrassing. Judge Brewster shook his head.

(TO BE CONTINUED)

GLEN CURTISS WINS $10,000 IN FLIGHT

(Coatinued From Page One.) and by adroit manipulation of his levers,

brought equilibrium to his steed. Curtiss arose from the ground like rocket at his start at Albany. There were no preliminary maneuvers and no trial flight. The aeroplane ran hurriedly over the surface of the island and durted strought for its roal southward, turning once for a moment to the westward so that Curtiss might comply with the provisions and leave the Albany city limits.

The Start.

Straight up soared the aeroplane into | away. the distance. When it reached a height estimated at 500 feet, it seemed for a moment to hold a level pace and then to rise again to further levels. Perhaps 700 feet would be a conservative estimate. Certainly Curtiss was flying at a height which he had never attempted before in his life. In three minutes he was a speck in the distance. In seven dinutes he vanished. The whole performance was over in a twinkling.
With the signal that Curtiss was off, a special train bearing Mrs. Curtiss and party gathered impetus and sought to follow. But so quickly had he flown that for 21 miles southward the locomotive, though running nearly a mile to the minute, remained a laggard abreast of the aeroplane and thence to New York city those on board kept the aviator in sight. Swiftly town and countryside reeled

by. Catskill was passed at 7:41, with the aeroplane a thousand feet above the

At 8:06, 63 minutes from the start, he soared past Rhinecliff Ferry 54 miles from Albany. Here there is a turn in the river and Curtiss turned again to the west, passing overland to shorten his course. Staatsburg marked the 60th | humanity. mile point an dhe had covered this distance in 69 minutes. With Staatsburg behind, the giant bridge spanning the Hudson at Poughkeepsie loomed ahead. The bridge itself is 212 feet high, but Curtiss topped it by 300 feet. Then he turned westward and with the precision of a bird, settled softly in the field three miles south of Poughkeepsie at 8:26. He had flown 74 miles from Albany in

The Arrival at Poughkeepsie.

Fire alarm bella were rung as the aviator neared Poughkeepsie, but his progress was so rapid that few people had a chance to reach a point of vant-

Coming down gracefully, his machine struck a grassy knoll, trundled along for 30 or 40 feet, then came to a stop. The special train meanwhile brought rushed from the car. climbed valiantly over the hills from the railroad track and hurrled to her husband's side. She greeted him jubilantly while the crowd cheered,

With tanks refilled and with every wire and screw tested, Curtiss took his for the final dash to New York. The biplane ran along the meadows for about 200 feet, then shot from the ground with nose pointed toward the In a moment more the craft was again over the Hudson and Curtiss turned his course south and was lost to view. Exactly one hour had been onsumed at Poughkeepsie, for he arrived at 8:26 and departed at 9:26. Curtiss passed the military academy at West Point at 10:02. Officers and cadets alike looked upward and sent a heer after the aviator. Arrival at New York, On south flying straight as an arrow and as swiftly moved the aeroplane. When he was abreast New York city and only a few miles from the upper end of Manhattan Island, it seemed that curtiss must win the $10,000 prize, but suddenly, when he had reached a point midway between Spuyten Duyvil ereck Washington Point, the speed of the bi- a little later on. We have not any plane slackened perceptibily and the machine drooped until it seemed that would almost touch the water. Then it came about prettily, pointing upward and headed up the river. The specta-tors were nonplussed. Many of them believed that the machinery had gone wrong and that Curtiss had lost his

But Curtiss was as cool as he had been at any stage of his flight and waved his hand assuringly. While passing Spuyten Duyvil he had seen. half a mile inland, a broad expanse of enguard the unner end of Manhattan Island. To win the prize it was necessarily only to land in Manhattan proper, and here was the chance without risk of further flight to Governor's island or the Battery, sime 13 miles

Telephones The World.

Therefore when he again came abreast of the mouth of the creek, after his puzzling turn backward, Curtiss threw his steering wheel about shortly, glided above a railroad draw bridge and floated lazily inland with the propellor barely turning. He maneuvered a bit carefully then alighted without mishap on the stretch of green which had caught his eye. He had flown from Albany to Manhattan in two hours, 32 minutes, and the $10,000 was his Jumping from his machine the aviator spected his motor and finding everything intact, sought a telephone and informed the World that he had arrived and claimed the award.

Feeling so gratified at success, Curtiss decided to give the city another view of his machine and at 11:37, he shot away again for Governor's Island. It was during this part of his trip that he received the noisest greeting. He sme down the river at an elevation of more than 300 feet, while harbor craft shricked their greetings. News of his progress spread quickly throughout the city. Hundreds rushed to the water front, and roofs became black with

The Journey's End.

Down the river and into the upper hav he salled as lightly and steadily as a swallow. Nearing Governor's Island, he began to descend, while cheers floated up from those who watched his

He landed easily on a stretch of the new made land within 40 yards of the shed in which the aeroplanes were kept during the Hudson-Fulton celebration Dismounting without further ado he resigned his craft to soldiers who volunteered to push it into the shed and he received the congratulations of Brig. Gen. Walter Howe, U. S. A., commander of the department of the east, and other officers.

Mrs. Curtiss, who had in the meantime, arrived in New York on the special train, joined her husband as Curi'ss was preparing to take the ferry for New York. He kissed her while the crowd cheered. Half an hour later Cur tiss got his check at the World office. Aeronauts and aviators are unanimous that Curtiss has performed the most worderful feat of the air that the world ins over m. P. Corrise was dressed for the tily in wading boots and sweater. His aeroplane carried pontoons or floats to prevent it sinking in case of a fall into the river. The pontoons are his own invention and were designed with a special view of making the Albany New York race. A 50 horse power motor of his own make propelled the craft, which with the aviator in its seat, weighed approximately 1000 pounds In winning the World prize, Curties incidentally captured the Scientifile American cup for the longest flight in America for a heavier-than-air machine.

May Go Abroad.

After Curtiss had been presented with the $10,000 check, Mrs. Curtis said: "There are many, many places where the money will come in handy, and we (which seperates Manhatian Island don't know what we are going to do from the borough of the Bronx) and with all of it yet. We may go abroad

Hammondsport in a few days.

Among the first to congratulate Cursuccessful aviators, is a young man, be-ing only 32 years old. He was born at Perhaps this is true, but if a man is Hammondsport, N. Y., and became in-terested in aeroplanes through the con-paid by some interest or instruction of gas engines. As a boy he was an easy step to try the construction of light gasoline motors for flying Heavy Expense. purposes, rds little shop at Hammonds-port became the headquarters for aero-Others Time for the Trip.

from New York to Albany stand out in trip to Albany on the steamship Cler-mont, thirty-two hours. Oct. 23, 1835—Steamboat Champlain raced to Albany in nine bours and 31 1900-Fastest rallroad time from New

August 17, 1807-Robert Fulton's first days.

WILL POINDEXTER QUIT THE RACE?

York to Albany, two hours and 40 min-

(Continued From Page Cue.)

ures would doubtiess be passed which would be almost equivalent to an effacement of the saloons The Anti-Bailevites. An unusually pleasant feeling seems exist between the rank as followers of Johnson and Davidson. This condition may be due to the Bailey question more than anything else. With perhaps three-fourths of the on supporters Johnson is their second choice. Davidson is said to be the second choice of most of the Johnson followers, prohibitionists though If the nomination was by convention this situation would be sig-nificant and highly important, but un-dans, really, further than going to other of the men should withdraw from the race, which is not a remote probability at this time.

tiss after his landing at Governor's The cost of this campaign to some Island was Charles K. Hamilton, the of the candidates is amounting up inoung aviator, who arrived in this city to the thousands of dollars. When the Saturday from Jacksonville, Fla., hop- present primary election law passed a ing to compete with Curtiss in the few years ago its advocates in the legislature urged as one one of its strong Glenn H. Curtiss, like all the other points that under its provisions a poor Perhaps this is true, but if a man is paid by some interest or individuals struction of gas engines. As a boy he whom he is expected to benefit if elected. It costs much more to make from making motors for bleycles it the race for governor under the present

An expense of $15,900 to $25,000 to make the campaign for governor is more than the man of ordinary means can bear. It is stated that with one In comparison with Curtiss's flying exception all of the candidates in the trip of two hours and 32 minutes, Sunout of their own private funds. The candidate who is receiving his money from outside sources is flooding the September 12, 1611 Stendrick Hud-son in the Haif Moon, saled from New York in first voyage to Abany in five amounting to hundreds of dollars each week. This literature goes direct to the voters, the mailing list being made to from the poli-tax payers in each It is nearly two movems until me primaries and the real heat of the cam-paign will not be reached until along towards the close. It is possible that may occur between now and the day when the votes are cast which change the present situation complete-Brought Here for Trial.

Dan Lund, wanted in El Paso, it is alleged, on a charge of obtaining money from Howard Fogg and R. M. Pogue, indicted by the grand jury Friday on a charge of removing mort-gaged property from the state, was brought back from Dalhart, Tex., by deputy sheriff W. D. Greet Sunday The man had been arrested at Dalhart Thursday.

Boys will be Boys and are always getting scratches, cuts, sprains, bruises, bumps, burns or scalds. Don't neglect such things—they may result serious if you do. Apply Ballard's Snow Liniment scording to directions right away and it will relieve the pain der the present primary system it and heal the trouble. Price 25c, 50c counts for nothing unless one or the and $1.00. Sold by all druggists.

NILES & MOSER CIGAR CO., Distributors